Elizabeth B. Meers is a partner and practice area leader of the education practice at Hogan Lovells US LLP in Washington, D.C. She gained a love of history and esteem of women at Hathaway Brown School, an independent girls’ school in Shaker Heights, Ohio, which she attended from first through twelfth grades. She majored in history at Radcliffe College, where she graduated summa cum laude in 1975. She wrote her senior thesis, “Machine and Morning Glory: Tammany Hall and the Woman Suffrage Movement 1906-1919”, on the history of the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which granted women the right to vote. She chose law school over graduate school in history and earned her law degree magna cum laude from Georgetown University Law Center in 1980. She served as a law clerk to Hon. John M. Ferren on the District of Columbia Court of Appeals in 1980-81 and joined Hogan & Hartson (now Hogan Lovells US LLP) in 1982. She and her husband, Dr. Dale R. Meers, have a blended family of six grown children, their spouses and partners, and five grandchildren.
